

How we act now will build the future for our children

An urgent invitation:

- To question all that is happening before the chance is lost
- To explore broader science, views and statistics
- To research further

A compilation of links to resources that will:

- Help you to navigate the current situation
- Help you to make informed decisions
- Promote open debate and explore different views
- Offer a starting point for further research
- Introduce just the tip of the iceberg of the wealth of knowledge we can explore

INTRODUCTION

In response to the remarkable times we are living in, we have created this shareable, downloadable, interactive PDF Exploration document (also found on-line HERE), a gathering of our extensive research into the covid pandemic and its effects on us all. We hope that it will enable and inspire you to research further if you choose to.

We respect and appreciate that some of what you read and explore may challenge views you hold to be true at the moment, but we believe there are significant questions that need asking about the Covid19 narrative as it is. We all wish to make choices that will enable a full and healthy life for ourselves, our communities and our children, and that are right for now and for the future. THANK YOU.

*An offering from three members of our wonderful, rich, intelligent, beautiful, precious Human tribe.
Peace to us all, may we flourish into a future filled with truth, respect and light.*

DISCLAIMER:

The information we have gathered here is by no means all that is available. COVID-19 is an emerging, rapidly evolving situation. The information might have changed, some links may no longer be available, but it is all accurate, thoroughly researched information at the point of publication. Also, this information is not being presented as the only truth but rather as an attempt at a broad exploration of what is happening, inspired by a strong sense that the Government mainstream narrative is not providing us with the most accurate and honest picture it can. Date Compiled: February – May 2021.

01 FROM UK GOVERNMENT WEBSITE OR STATED BY GOVERNMENT

Although we are being told clearly by the Government that Covid 19 is dangerous, that vaccines are necessary and safe and that social distancing must continue, a closer look at the Governments own website will reveal a different picture. It is essential that we all do our own research, not just accept the information we are being given without checking it: even a search of the Gov website will raise many questions as to the media message around Covid 19.

Status of COVID-19 - UK government website:

<https://www.gov.uk/guidance/high-consequence-infectious-diseases-hcid> This information alone invites a whole load of questions: "As of 19 March 2020 the public health bodies in the UK and the Advisory Committee on Dangerous Pathogens (ACDP) no longer consider COVID-19 to be a high consequence infectious disease (HCID) in the UK."

Office for National Statistics (ONS) website : *death rates per year in the UK 1990 to December 2020. A table showing that the Age Standardised Mortality rates (the true average) for 2020 were lower than in 2008, 2007, 2006, 2005, 2004, 2003, 2002, and every year from 1990 – 2002:

https://www.ons.gov.uk/aboutus/transparencyandgovernance/freedomofinformationfoi/deathsintheukfrom-1990to2020?fbclid=IwAR2vXhTctey2TpMfwTgQQvrYf7PXtuUMpb1gXro-jjqDdde5XEFG44XM_qs

*complete ONS data on annual death and mortality rates date back to 1838 however age age-standardised mortality rates are available from 1942. Overall mortality based upon the age-standardised mortality (1942-2020), 2020 would rank 68th out of these last 79 years.

What to expect after your Covid19 vaccination - UK Government website:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/covid-19-vaccination-what-to-expect-after-vaccination/what-to-expect-after-your-covid-19-vaccination> "...Like all medicines, no vaccine is completely effective.... Some people may still get COVID-19 despite having a vaccination We do not yet know whether it will stop you from catching and passing on the virus ... So, it is still important to follow the guidance: practice social distancing, wear a face mask..."

UK Government – Summary of further modelling of easing restrictions – Roadmap Step 2

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/spi-m-o-summary-of-further-modelling-of-easing-restrictions-roadmap-step-2-31-march-2021> page 10, paragraph 32: "...The resurgence in both hospitalisations and deaths is dominated by those that have received two doses of the vaccine, comprising around 60% and 70% of the wave respectively. This can be attributed to the high levels of uptake in the most at-risk age groups, such that immunisation failures account for more serious illness than unvaccinated individuals..." Page 18, paragraph 56: "Who becomes seriously ill in a resurgence? most deaths and admissions in a post-Roadmap resurgence are in people who have received two vaccine doses, even without vaccine protection waning or a variant emerging that escapes vaccines..."

UK Government public speeches related to vaccine certification and how they changed from February to March 2021 <https://twitter.com/BigBrotherWatch/status/1372852479931650052> – 1min 30 video

UK Government public speeches related to mask wearing by the general public and how they changed from April to June 2020: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=HHGtyH0SYsc> – 2min video. Up until June 4, the government ministers and their advisers considered the evidence for the use of face masks by the general public to be too weak to recommend it. The latest science continues to support this view, however the Government advice is now to wear face masks.

ADVERSE REACTIONS - UK COVID19 VACCINE ADVERSE EVENTS REPORTING

Although the Gov.uk website is making the adverse reactions data public it is not easy to find or navigate.

For easy access to Yellow Card updates look here: UK Column Covid19 vaccine adverse drug reaction (ADR) reports - (data from MHRA), interactive, easy to follow: <https://yellowcard.ukcolumnn.org/yellow-card-reports>

Yellow Card Covid 19 Vaccine Adverse Reactions (ADR) reporting - run by the UK Government's regulatory agency MHRA (Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory agency). REPORT ADVERSE REACTIONS HERE

UK Government weekly report of Covid19 vaccine adverse reactions as reported on the Yellow card reporting website (Scroll down web page for links to detailed analysis documents for reactions per vaccine brand): HERE

Updated 10th June 2021 - MHRA Yellow Card Reporting - Pfizer (approx 25,4 million doses), AstraZeneca (approx 40,2 million doses), Moderna (approx 460,000 doses). This report covers period of 9th Dec 2020 to 2nd June 2021:

Total Reactions - 193,768 (Pfizer) + 717,250 (AZ) + 9,243 (M) + 2,335 (Unknown)	=	922,596
Total Reports - 67,998 (Pfizer) + 195,641 (AZ) + 3,278 (M) + 754 (Unknown)	=	267,671
Total Fatalities - 406 (Pfizer) + 864 (AZ) + 4 (M) + 22 (Unknown)	=	1,296
Nervous System disorders (eg; bell's palsy) - 35,953 (Pfizer) + 151,901 (AZ) + 1,349 (M) + 461 (Unknwn)	=	192,664
Cardiac disorders (eg: heart failures, palpitations) - 2,479 (Pfizer) + 7,494 (AZ) + 61 (M) + 19 (Unknwn)	=	10,053
Immune System disorders (e.g Anaphylaxis) - 1,064 (Pfizer) + 2,441 (AZ) + 78 (M) + 10 (Unknwn)	=	3,593
Blood disorders (eg: thrombotic disorders) - 6,715 (Pfizer) + 6,331 (AZ) + 174 (M) + 27 (Unknwn)	=	13,227
Vascular disorders (eg: embolism, haemorrhages) - 2,901 (Pfizer) + 10,045 (AZ) + 117 (M) + 40 (Unknwn)	=	13,103
Infections (eg: covid19, sepsis, lung infections) - 4,839 (Pfizer) + 15,278 (AZ) + 159 (M) + 64 (Unknwn)	=	20,340
General disorders (eg: sudden death, pain) - 53,534 (Pfizer) + 227,588 (AZ) + 2,583 (M) + 705 (Unknwn)	=	284,412
Respiratory, Breathing disorders - 8,314 (Pfizer) + 23,439 (AZ) + 241 (M) + 72 (Unknwn)	=	32,066
Skin disorders - 14,351 (Pfizer) + 43,758 (AZ) + 1,870 (M) + 158 (Unknwn)	=	60,137
Gastrointestinal disorders (eg: colitis, hernias) - 19,679 (Pfizer) + 70,843 (AZ) + 689 (M) + 222 (Unknwn)	=	91,433
Muscle & tissue disorders (eg: arthritis, pain) - 25,054 (Pfizer) + 87,500 (AZ) + 998 (M) + 261 (Unknwn)	=	113,813
Ear disorders (eg: tinnitus, hearing loss) - 2,589 (Pfizer) + 7,656 (AZ) + 72 (M) + 30 (Unknwn)	=	10,400
Eye disorders (eg: impairment, blindness) - 3,244 (Pfizer) + 11,480 (AZ) + 98 (M) + 37 (Unknwn)	=	14,859
Metabolic disorders (eg: diabetes mellitus) - 1,177 (Pfizer) + 7,854 (AZ) + 32 (M) + 43 (Unknwn)	=	9,106
Reproductive disorders (eg: erection, menopausal) - 2,777 (Pfizer) + 6,454 (AZ) + 277 (M) + 27 (Unknwn)	=	9,535
Pregnancy (Spont. abortion, still birth, foetal death) - 150 (Pfizer) + 184 (AZ) + 8 (M) + 2 (Unknwn)	=	344
Injuries (e.g skin, delivery, lactation) - 1,964 (Pfizer) + 6,517 (AZ) + 119 (M) + 35 (Unknwn)	=	8,635
Psychiatric disorders (e.g depression, anxiety) - 3,514 (Pfizer) + 14,510 (AZ) + 162 (M) + 56 (Unknwn)	=	18,242

It is widely recognised that, on average, only 10% of serious adverse reactions are actually reported to the MHRA. The percentage is far less for non-serious reactions. This suggests that approximately 2 million people should be filing a Yellow Card. This equates to 1 AE Yellow Card injury or death for every 16 people. The vaccine therefore carries a 1 in 16 risk of life impacting/limiting injury or death. Covid19 carries 99.9% survival rate.

02 MEDICAL AND SCIENTIFIC COMMUNITIES

These are just some of the communities that have formed in the UK and world wide to address their concerns and encourage an open debate on topics surrounding the governments' responses to the respiratory virus SARS CoV-2 and the disease COVID19. These groups are non-profit, consist of members who work voluntarily, offering their skill set to contribute to informed policymaking and decisioning. They are not aligned with any political entities and are often funded only by their members, speaking engagements and the public.

PANDA - Pandemics ~ Data & Analytics <https://www.pandata.org/in-the-news/>

This is a collective of leading scientists, actuaries, economists, data scientists, statisticians, medical professionals, lawyers, engineers and businesspeople working together with the aim of promoting 'open science, human agency and courageous societies, empowering the public with accurate information thereby enabling individuals to exercise freedom of choice and preserve human liberties and free societies'. See the link above for their very informative articles on various topics.

HART – Health Advisory and Recovery Team <https://www.hartgroup.org/category/covid-19-bulletin/>

Is a group of highly qualified UK doctors, scientists, economists, psychologists and other academic experts. Their core aim is to find the common ground between the Government and groups that are concerned about COVID-19 restrictions.

The ambition is to bring all sides together and to widen the debate in order to formulate an exit strategy that benefits everyone in society. Consultations from HART are founded on scientific, evidence-based principles in the interests of public health. HART wants to encourage clear, calm and compassionate discussions. See the link above for their hugely informative bulletin on various topics.

Front Line Covid19 Critical Care <https://covid19criticalcare.com/about/the-challenge/>

The FLCCC Alliance was organized in March, 2020 by a group of highly published, world renowned Critical Care physician/scholars – with the academic support of allied physicians from around the world – to research and develop lifesaving protocols for the prevention and treatment of COVID-19 in all stages of illness.

UK Medical Freedom Alliance <https://www.ukmedfreedom.org/about>

This is an alliance of UK medical professionals, scientists and lawyers who have found that the Government's response to COVID-19 is misguided and not based upon the best available scientific evidence. Their goal is to preserve and protect Medical Freedom, Informed Consent and Bodily Autonomy. The UKMFA website contains many useful resources and links, including comprehensive vaccine information as well as very informative open letters on many topics such as vaccine passports, vaccine mandates, mass testing at schools, that UKMFA sends to Government and regulators or that you can download, sign and send to your MP, employer, school etc...

World Doctors Alliance <https://worlddoctorsalliance.com/>

WDA is an independent non-profit alliance of doctors, nurses, healthcare professionals and staff around the world who have united to share experiences and debate the most urgent and important issues surrounding the Covid-19 pandemic. Scroll down on their home page for their open letter, summarizing these issues in a clear way with references.

The Great Barrington Declaration <https://gbdeclaration.org/>

A declaration, with over 850,000 signatures, where public health scientists and infectious disease epidemiologists express their concerns about the damaging physical and mental health impacts of the prevailing COVID 19 policies and recommend a different approach.

Primary Doctor Medical Journal: <https://pdmj.org/> A peer-reviewed journal by physicians and scientists without commercial influence. Currently exploring methodology used in covid response and providing well researched papers.

Robert F. Kennedy, Jr – The Defender <https://childrenshealthdefense.org/> The Defender is a unique platform for frank, civil, non-partisan discussions of evidence-based science and medicine. News and views on various topics related, amongst others, to vaccines, food safety, and here covid topics:
https://childrenshealthdefense.org/defender_category/covid

UK Lawyers for liberty – Democracy declaration <https://democracydeclaration.com/>

UK lawyers, fighting against a permanent shift of power towards the executive. Such permanent changes in the balance of power present profound and long-term impacts on the rule of law and our rights.

“No matter what your view is on lockdowns, the truth of the matter is that we are no longer in an emergency situation. Our government, however, are still operating falsely in emergency mode and relying on emergency powers to the exclusion and suspension of the ordinary functioning of the country.”

Swiss Policy Research – <https://swprs.org/covid19-facts/>

Clear, brief referenced facts about covid19. Includes graphs and statistics, available in many languages. Starting with: Lethality: According to the latest immunological studies, the overall infection fatality rate (IFR) of covid-19 in the general population is about 0.1% to 0.5% in most countries, which is most closely comparable to the medium influenza pandemics of 1957 and 1968.

Many more medical, scientific and legal communities (some of them listed below under sections What can I do and Legal Actions) have formed to challenge the science presented by SAGE – the Government’s Scientific Advisory Group for Emergencies, whose input is responsible for government policies:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations/scientific-advisory-group-for-emergencies>

SAGE meeting minutes and supporting papers:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/collections/scientific-evidence-supporting-the-government-response-to-coronavirus-covid-19#meeting-minutes-and-supporting-papers>

Dr Mike Yeadon on SAGE - in this article: <https://lockdownsceptics.org/what-sage-got-wrong/>

“In spring 2020, membership of SAGE was initially treated like a state secret. Eventually, membership was revealed. I looked up the credentials of all the members. There were no clinical immunologists. No one who had a biology degree and a post-doctoral qualification in immunology. A few medics, sure. Several people from the humanities including sociologists, economists, psychologists and political theorists. No clinical immunologists. What there were in profusion – seven in total – were mathematicians. This comprised the modelling group. ... I cannot stress how important it is, whenever you hear the word “model”, that you ask who has the expertise in the thing that’s purportedly being modelled...”

(Dr Mike Yeadon has a degree in biochemistry and toxicology and a research-based PhD in respiratory pharmacology. He has spent over 30 years leading new medicines research in some of the world’s largest pharmaceutical companies, leaving Pfizer in 2011 as Vice President & Chief Scientist for Allergy & Respiratory. That was the most senior research position in this field in Pfizer. Since leaving Pfizer, Dr Yeadon has founded his own biotech company, Ziarco, which was sold to the worlds biggest drug company, Novartis, in 2017.)

03 FUNDAMENTAL PARADIGMS

Views and paradigms that underline our view of, and response to, the current situation. This section explores some of the following questions, because how we choose to answer informs and directs our response to this and any pandemic and to our visions of the future: Who are we? What is our relationship to nature? What role do we play within nature and what consequences does that bring? What is our perception of viruses, science, death and life? How have we arrived where we are now? Where are we heading?

(NOTE: We consider this content to be crucial to how we think and act in general, but especially now, in the current situation. We believe the time spent to open our minds and hearts to these thoughts is invaluable. However, in case you prefer to deal with other topics first, there's a page at the end of this document that very briefly summarizes the main thoughts explored here.)

Zach Bush MD – Video interviews. A triple board-certified physician specializing in internal medicine, endocrinology and hospice care, focused on the relationship between the microbiome, the virome, disease and food production systems (his informative website: <https://zachbushmd.com/>). He is a critical voice in the conversation we need to have in this unprecedented moment of global challenge. He shares his perspective on the current situation in many interviews that look at the reasons and causes behind what is happening, how to best navigate it, and what this situation signifies for humanity and the future of planetary ecology. Out of the many inspirational interviews we recommend these, we truly believe it is worth the time:

20min video interview - on the innate immune system, vaccines and also on covid19 in the context of the virome. Great video presenting a wider perspective and the big picture in context:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=0WT3dcz4QIU>

50min video interview - on corona viruses, pandemics, the importance of viruses, PCR tests, covid vaccines, flu vaccines, why experts are divided in their views, where we are now, sociological viewpoint..... Very interesting, summarizes it all, the macro as well as the micro view: <https://www.bitcute.com/video/AdENKwdYKuqa/>

35min video interview - explaining genomics, the virome, where Covid stands from that perspective and why viruses are needed : <https://www.bitcute.com/video/C6w5rOxOFmJ7/>

45min video interview - on the innate and adaptive immune system and vaccine interference and consequences: <https://www.bitcute.com/video/ObkvBPRXVega>

30min video interview - on herd biological update vs herd immunity, on antibodies vs immunity, PCR tests, where we are heading - rise in consciousness: <https://www.bitcute.com/video/oAYWBsvdXSwV/>

1h20min video interview – in the first 9min Zach Bush shares his story, then continues about covid19, how he sees it, presenting deep and wide consequences and reasons for the current situation being as it is and why our fear of death is important to consider and challenge: <https://zachbushmd.com/video/the-highwire/>

1h50min video interview - “a pandemic of possibility” <https://www.richroll.com/podcast/zach-bush-508/>

3h video interview - What happened last year – deep and detailed thoughts and science. If nothing, watch the first 20min before he dives deeper into the science. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=f6zb5rXgRvs>

Pathogens in one lesson – courtesy of Sunetra Gupta. An article introducing a book Pandemics: Our Fears and the Facts written in 2013 by Sunetra Gupta, Oxford University theoretical epidemiologist, one of the signers of the Great Barrington Declaration. “With computer viruses, the way to deal with them is to block them. Our operating systems must remain perfectly clean and free of all pathogens. For the machine to work properly, its memory must be pure and unexposed. One exposure could mean data loss, identity theft, and even machine death. Despite what Bill Gates seems to believe, our bodies are not the same. Exposure to milder forms of germs works to protect us against more severe forms. The cell memory of our body is trained through experience, not by blocking all bugs but by incorporating the capacity to fight them off into our biology.”

Is The Germ/Virus Theory Valid?

In recent years, and especially since the alleged pandemic started, doctors such as Dr Tom Cowan, Dr Andrew Kaufman and former virologist Stefan Lanka have been challenging the virus theory narrative and highlighting the lack of solid science behind this alleged virus, the alleged transmission, alleged contagiousness resulting in the alleged disease. Since Louis Pasteur’s theory was embraced there have been concerns and criticism but these have been dismissed, and mostly kept from the public domain over the years. Here are a few links bringing into question virology and germ/disease theory.

04 DATA

A) TERMINOLOGY

SARS-COV2 (VIRUS) VS COVID 19 (CONDITION)

“IT IS NOT COVID19 (SYMPTOMATIC CONDITION) THAT IS DETECTED IN THE TEST. THE TEST DETECTS A MIXTURE OF VIRUS PARTICLES (RNA) AND DEAD AND DYING CELLS THAT MAY CONTAIN PARTICLES OF THE VIRUS SARS-COV2. IF AN ASYMPTOMATIC PERSON TESTS POSITIVE, IT DOESN'T MEAN THEY HAVE THE COVID19 CONDITION/DISEASE.”*

“It is very important to avoid conflating the virus and the disease. SARS CoV-2 is a respiratory virus. If you contract that virus, you will likely have mild symptoms. In rarer cases, SARS CoV-2 can lead to a more severe collection of symptoms, characterising a disease we call COVID-19... By referring to the virus and the disease interchangeably, we end up with unnecessary panic.” ~ HART – Health Advisory and Recovery Team (week 5th March):

<https://www.hartgroup.org/covid-19-bulletin/>

SARS-COV2 AND PREVIOUS PANDEMICS – A BROADER VIEW TO HOW VIRUSES BEHAVE

Zach Bush MD – minute 7 to 15: <https://www.bitchute.com/video/AdENKwdYKuqa/>

“.. We have identified around 120 corona viruses, cold like syndromes, that affect the upper respiratory system (cough, sore throat, congestion)... In the last 20 years these viruses present clinically differently, affecting lower respiratory system – deep lungs and vascular system – in 2001/2 there was SARS 1 (burnt itself out in 18-24 months), in 2012 there was MERS (gone within 2 years), now SARS-CoV2 would follow the same pattern, it burns itself out as the humanity and water, soil and air system comes into balance with it..”

(+ More on vaccines, flu and PCR tests in those 9 minutes of the video (more on PCR tests later in the video)

Mortality data and Covid19 – Joel Smalley, Quantitative Data Analyst

“Viruses tend to follow a predictable self-limiting path because (a) herd immunity increases over time and (b) there are fewer susceptible individuals available as the most vulnerable succumb early on in the outbreak. In addition, viruses are known to mutate to become less virulent over time, hence increasing their own chances of survival and replication by not killing their host.” <https://www.hartgroup.org/mortality-data-covid-19/>

“ THERE ARE MORE VIRUSES ON THE EARTH THAN THERE ARE STARS IN THE UNIVERSE. ~ ZACH BUSH MD. ”

R NUMBER

UK Government Website – The R number in the UK. “The reproduction number (R) is the average number of secondary infections produced by a single infected person. An R value of 1 means that on average every person who is infected will infect 1 other person, meaning the total number of infections is stable. If R is 2, on average, each infected person infects 2 more people. If R is 0.5 then on average for each 2 infected people, there will be only 1 new infection. If R is greater than 1 the epidemic is growing, if R is less than 1 the epidemic is shrinking. The higher R is above 1, the more people 1 infected person infects and so the faster the epidemic grows.”

Despite the main government page on the R number (<https://www.gov.uk/guidance/the-r-number-in-the-uk>) shows it to be between 0.8 to 1.0 and the growth rate between -4% to 0% per day, the SAGE meeting minutes from the 11th may state these figures: https://assets.publishing.service.gov.uk/government/uploads/system/uploads/attachment_data/file/975918/S1141_SAGE_83_minutes.pdf

LATEST R RANGE FOR ENGLAND: 0.6 TO 0.8

(Which means that, on average, every 10 people infected will infect between 8 and 10 other people)

Latest growth rate range for England -7% to -4% per day

(Which means that the number of new infections is broadly flat or shrinking by up to 4% every day)

... Which means “the epidemic / pandemic is on its way out” as Chris Whitty explains back in 2018 in his presentation on Epidemics, Pandemics and how to control them:

6 min video <https://brandnewtube.com/v/pNsPda>

“IF YOU CAN GET R BELOW 1 THE EPIDEMIC DIES” (CHRIS WHITTY IN 2018)

HAS SARS-COV2 BEEN ISOLATED?

You might have heard the (most probably discredited) argument, that the virus SARS-CoV2 has not been isolated. Dr Sam Bailey in this video explains, that “none of the authors of the isolation papers claimed that they had a purified sample” ... “if nobody had purified the virus, how do they get the genetic sequence? These new viral sequences are created by PCR” ... “There is over 225.000 EUR up for grabs for anyone that can prove the actual isolation and its genetics substance.” (Isolate Truth Fund) At the time of recording this video, there were not takers.

WAYS OF TRANSMISSION

Myths of surface transmission of a respiratory virus “Finally,” said Linsey Marr, an expert on airborne viruses at Virginia Tech. “We’ve known this for a long time and yet people are still focusing so much on surface cleaning.” She added, “There’s really no evidence that anyone has ever gotten Covid-19 by touching a contaminated surface.”

<https://www.aier.org/article/another-covid-myth-dies-the-death/amp/>

Swiss Policy research: <https://swprs.org/covid19-facts/> Transmission: According to current knowledge, the main routes of transmission of the virus are indoor aerosols and droplets produced when speaking or coughing, while outdoor aerosols as well as most object surfaces appear to play a minor role. The coronavirus season in the northern hemisphere lasts from about November to April.

Zach Bush MD – on corona viruses, pandemics, the importance of viruses, PCR tests, covid vaccines, flu vaccines, why experts are divided in their views, where we are now, sociological viewpoint..... Very interesting, summarizes it all, the macro as well as the micro view: <https://www.bitchute.com/video/AdENKwdYKuqa/>
“There are more viruses on the Earth than there are stars in the known Universe – in the air we breath (only a few of them we have gained insight into, sequenced and named). Billions and billions respiratory viruses that we are in an innate relationship with and are not causing us any harm. There’s a tiny segment of these that are related to a clinical syndrome (e.g. common cold, flu or Covid19). If there is a syndrome that gets associated with one of these viruses, it means that this particular genetic information (the virus) is producing proteins that are extremely activating our immune system. Why is that important? Because the immune system is not there to fight off the world – that’s the old paradigm we are still in and we’re still encouraged to believe.”

HERD IMMUNITY

 Title: Coronavirus disease (COVID-19): Serology
 Date: 9 June 2020 | Q&A
 Question: What is herd immunity?
 Answer: Herd immunity is the indirect protection from an infectious disease that happens when a population is immune either through vaccination or immunity developed through previous infection. This means that even people who haven't been infected, or in whom an infection hasn't triggered an immune response, they are protected because people around them who are immune can act as buffers between them and an infected person. The threshold for establishing herd immunity for COVID-19 is not yet clear.

Right Screenshot (13 November 2020):
 Title: Coronavirus disease (COVID-19): Serology, antibodies and immunity
 Date: 13 November 2020 | Q&A
 Question: What is herd immunity?
 Answer: 'Herd immunity', also known as 'population immunity', is a concept used for vaccination, in which a population can be protected from a certain virus if a threshold of vaccination is reached. Herd immunity is achieved by protecting people from a virus, not by exposing them to it. Read the Director-General's 12 October media briefing speech for more detail.

B) DATA IN CONTEXT:

Since the World Health Organization (WHO) declared the COVID-19 global pandemic, many issues have arisen that run contrary to historical precedents and known and practiced public health principles of the last century. This article discusses some of these issues. <https://www.pandata.org/a-critical-analysis-of-the-covid-response/>

Context is extremely important. It provides a framework to put the figures into. It is important to consider and include the figures representing the collateral harm of the Government policy response in order to fully understand the cause and effect of harm and death related to the pandemic.

After some hesitancy to speak out, he says: *“Context is very important and is often lost with the singular focus on covid. Data reveal the truth. 04 Data

HART – Health Advisory and Recovery Team <https://www.hartgroup.org/covid-19-bulletin/>

Previously mentioned, HART aims for open debate and scientific and evidence-based explanations.

From their weekly bulletin on current data in context: “...excess deaths, now shows that deaths are below normal levels for the time of year. As there is a 23 day window between contracting infection and death, this shows that transmission levels have been essentially zero for nearly a month now...” (dated 11th March 2021).

“ ... people coming to A&E with an acute respiratory infection is almost as low as the summer minimum and well below normal for the time of year. This would suggest that any pressure the NHS is experiencing is not related to community spread of SARS-CoV-2...” (dated 11th March 2021).

“...99.9% of people under 70 years and with no underlying conditions survive the virus .”

“ ...The median age at death with Covid19 (around 82 years) exceeds normal life expectancy...”

“ ...The majority of those who died with the virus also had two or more serious, chronic illnesses...”

“ ...In 2020, there were 388 Covid19 deaths in those aged 60 or and under with no prior illnesses...” (UK)

(all of the above quotes are from HART weekly bulletin dated 19th February 2021)

“...Perhaps the most useful measure available to us is all-cause mortality. When you look at the last 20 years, it certainly puts recent events in context...”: (dated 25th February 2021).

Summary by The World Doctors Alliance:

“Leading medical journal the BMJ published a peer-reviewed article last week by John Appleby, Director of Research at the Nuffield Trust, that draws on ONS data to look at the 2020 England and Wales death toll in a historical context. In terms of absolute number of deaths, 2020 was the worst year since 1838 except for the Spanish Flu year of 1918 (note that overseas deaths including war casualties are not included). However, as a proportion of population, it was only the worst year since 2003. Furthermore, once you take into account the fact that the population is getting older and standardise the figures by age, 2020 was less deadly than 2008 and every year prior to it. Appleby for his part makes no attempt to downplay the pandemic death toll, pointing out that only in four previous years had there been a sharper increase in percentage terms on the previous year and they were all prior to 1941. It was definitely counter to the decreasing trend.

A point he doesn't make, however, is that the historically low levels of the previous 11 years would have left an unusually large amount of 'dry tinder' for any novel virus to burn through. Plus, 2019 had the lowest age-standardised mortality ever, to the extent that if you took an average of 2019 and 2020 then that average was lower than 2015, 2013, 2012 and every year prior to 2011. While it's fair to note (as Appleby does) that the coronavirus epidemic continued into 2021, with high excess deaths in January and February, it is hard to regard this as an earth-shattering death toll. The graphs also make clear that previous similar pandemics, such as in 1957 and 1968, made only a modest impact on mortality and only for a year or two, notwithstanding the lack of vaccines or social interventions. There is nothing about this disease to think the long-term pattern should be any different that would justify some kind of radical, permanent change to the way we interact or organise our lives. It's important to remember that our immune systems develop and maintain resistance to a host of pathogens through being frequently exposed to them and that social isolation, where it is not merely ineffective, can deprive us of the opportunity to keep our immunity topped up.”

C) DATA OUT OF CONTEXT WITH THE SINGULAR FOCUS ON COVID-19:

Some of the data used to explain, justify and form the basis of all measures and the mainstream media narrative

PREDICTIONS

Neil Ferguson's Imperial College warned Boris Johnson last year that, without an immediate lockdown, the coronavirus would cause 500,000 deaths. This figure, has been recognized as exaggerated (as have been N. Ferguson's predictions for foot-and-mouth disease in 2001, mad cow disease in 2002, bird flu in 2005, and swine flu in 2007). N. Ferguson himself admitted his model was based on undocumented, 13-year-old computer code that had been intended for use in a feared influenza pandemic. Ferguson's model has been roundly attacked as not based on science, but on projected death rates which were much higher than the present estimated 99.8% plus survival rate of COVID19. His predictions were never validated against the data that comes out empirically, week by week. If this had been done it would have been seen quickly that the model was 'badly specified, 'not on the side of caution but completely reckless considering the collateral damage of the policy response that was based on this prediction.' Despite all this evidence, lockdowns and other measures remain official policy. Sources for these statements: Making sense of mortality – Quantitative Analyst, MBA, Joel Smalley mentioned above. Assessing asymptomatic transmission’s role in the pandemic:

“...Prior to 2020 the default assumption was that only symptomatic individuals are at high risk of infecting others with a respiratory pathogen... The entire rationale for mask wearing and mass testing is based on the assumption of the importance of asymptomatic transmission being correct. However, when the source data was reviewed this assumption was called into question....Empirical data show that transmission risk is very variable and is much greater in those displaying symptoms...A high proportion of infections have been acquired in institutions....COVID-19 may be well on its way to becoming predominantly a disease of institutional spread, as was the case with prior novel coronaviruses. HART recommends urgently undertaking a detailed, multi-disciplinary review of the effectiveness of non-pharmaceutical interventions in community and institutional settings....”

COVID DEATH NUMBERS

METHOD OF RECORDING (COVID) DEATHS CHANGED IN 2020

Government website: New UK-wide methodology to record Covid19 deaths, adopted in August 2020

Daily published COVID-19 deaths are “deaths in people with COVID-19 that occurred within 28 days of testing positive”. ...meaning death from any cause within 28 days of testing positive. When we factor in prevalence of false positives, we can imagine the scale of inaccuracy and what sort of image such a Covid-19 death number presented in the news can create.

<https://www.gov.uk/government/news/new-uk-wide-methodology-agreed-to-record-covid-19-deaths>

From this government source about the reasons for this methodology of recording covid19 deaths:

Professor John Newton, Director of Health Improvement at Public Health England, said: “The way we count deaths in people with COVID-19 in England was originally chosen to avoid underestimating deaths caused by the virus in the early stages of the pandemic.” Putting that into context:

EMERGENCY MEASURE IS STILL IN PLACE (relates to the statement above)

UK Government admitting in April 2021 - QUARTER OF VIRUS DEATHS NOT CAUSED BY COVID. Calls to speed up roadmap as 23% of recent deaths are “with” the disease rather than “from” it. - Front page of The Daily Telegraph 14th April 2021 (note: BBC News front page on that day does not mention anything. What does that tell us?)

<https://www.telegraph.co.uk/news/2021/04/13/quarter-covid-deaths-not-caused-virus/>

“Almost a quarter of registered covid deaths are people who are not dying from the disease... new official figures show as the government was urged to move faster with the roadmap” ... 23% of people who died.

For this very information people were getting de-platformed not long ago – now officially confirmed. And the number might be much higher than that.

Scottish Government response to Freedom of Information request: COVID-19: Number of Scottish deaths with no underlying health condition. Information requested : The figure of deaths in Scotland for the period of 3/3/2020 till 1/2/2021 of citizens whom have died solely of COVID-19 with no whatsoever underlying conditions. Response: The answer to your question is 596 deaths involving COVID-19 has been registered where there was no pre-existing medical condition between March 2020 and January 2021 (including).

Official NHS data shows only 3,542 died with no known pre-existing conditions

<https://dailyexpose.co.uk/2021/04/05/official-nhs-data-shows-only-3-5k-have-died-of-covid-19/>

“Of the 86,308 deaths occurring in people who have tested positive for “Covid”, 82,766 died from pre-existing conditions. Only 3,542 died with no known pre-existing conditions.” What’s even more shocking about that is that this doesn’t mean the 3,542 who died with no known pre-existing conditions actually died of Covid-19. It just means they didn’t have any pre-existing conditions. This very small amount of people in the grand scheme of things could actually be even smaller, as it is entirely possible they still died of other causes, such as a bad car accident for instance. We cannot of course prove that but it is still entirely possible due to the fact they record Covid deaths as anyone who ha died within 28 days of receiving a positive test for SARS-CoV-2. But we can prove what some of the underlying pre-existing conditions were, as the NHS have told us.”

HART – Health Advisory and Recovery Team <https://www.hartgroup.org/covid-19-bulletin/> (25th Feb):

“... Data on COVID-19 mortality is centred on all deaths within 28 days of a PCR positive. Regardless of the prevalence of false positives, the genuine presence of a respiratory virus does not necessarily implicate the virus in the patient’s death. It is being assumed that where PCR positives indicate the presence of SARS-CoV-2, the virus has contributed in some way to the death. We have never adopted this system for any other virus..”

(HART bulletin week 25th February 2021)

“Perhaps the most useful measure available to us is all-cause mortality. When you look at the last 20 years, it certainly puts recent events in context...”

With every death comes personal tragedy, nevertheless it is important to remember:

- 99.9% of people under 70 years and with no underlying conditions survive the virus.
- The majority of those who died with the virus also had two or more serious, chronic illnesses.
- The median age at death with Covid19 (around 82 years) exceeds normal life expectancy.
- In 2020, there were 388 Covid19 deaths in those aged 60 or and under with no prior illnesses.

WHISTLE BLOWING ON THE 'OVERRUN' NHS WITH KIRSTY MILLER – Pandemic Podcast

“Night after night a recurring media theme over the past year has been harrowing images of over-stretched staff in their PPE rushing from bed to bed in overflowing ICU wards. This unrelenting barrage of distress has underpinned the entire ‘protect the NHS’ messaging campaign but is what we’ve been seeing – and still see, even now – a complete picture of what’s actually been going on? More and more health staff are now speaking out, putting their livelihoods in peril and jeopardising professional and other relationships in the process. Among them is Kirsty Miller, an experienced nurse who worked for NHS Tayside and quit at the end of March after raising in vain a growing catalogue of concerns with her managers, her union, government health bodies, and the Nursing and Midwifery Council. The emotional video she made sitting in a hospital car park after working her last shift went viral, and now Kirsty wants as many people as possible to start questioning what’s happening in the NHS and care sector. Kirsty is sharing her story, touching on empty wards, elderly patients being pushed to sign DNRs (Do Not Resuscitate), and how her whistle-blowing at a Dundee care home early last year also fell on deaf ears”

Exercise Cygnus: UK Government Exercise Justifies Covid-19 Lockdown – UK Column News

<https://www.ukcolumn.org/article/exercise-cygnus-uk-government-exercise-justifies-covid-19-lockdown>

Article explores the steady decline in the number of ICU beds from 1997 up to now, it then explores the UK Influenza Pandemic Preparedness Strategy Paper published by the UK government in 2011, followed in 2016 by a government-organized event called Exercise Cygnus, which involved all government departments, all local authorities, and the NHS across the UK and which report has not been published for “national security reasons” and so as not to “frighten the public”....

“To get a general feel, looking back to 2011, the government published the UK Influenza Pandemic Preparedness Strategy Paper, outlining what the official response to a hypothetical pandemic should be. Its precautionary approach stresses that actions following the emergence of a pandemic, which could occur suddenly at any time:

- must be evidence based
- be proportional to the level of threat
- be flexible
- be based on ethical principles.
- emergency powers must last no longer than 30 days

Significantly, it states that during any pandemic, it should be “business as usual” and notes that its recommendations are in line with an earlier, 2007, National Framework paper’s “defence in depth” approach to a pandemic.”

05 MEDIA INFORMATION CAMPAIGN

The above data, out of context, with a singular focus on Covid19 has formed the basis for unprecedented measures and interventions. After an immediate and willing response amongst the vast majority of people to respond as advised to the initial sense of emergency, the continuing collective compliance with these measures, in the face of growing scientific questioning as to the actions of Governments, has been largely achieved by a relentless and aggressive media campaign.

Psychological impact of Government's communication style – Dr Damian Wild, Chartered, Highly Specialist Clinical Psychologist.

"The communication style used throughout this crisis has employed several covert psychological strategies ("nudges") that act upon us subconsciously, below the level of awareness." "The Government's Behavioural Insight Team (BIT) recommended many psychological techniques in order to change people's behaviour. The SAGE minutes of the 22nd March 2020 state: "The perceived level of personal threat needs to be increased ... using hard-hitting emotional messaging." "BIT has inflicted a prolonged scare campaign upon the British public, the primary aim of which has been to inflate levels of fear and thereby achieve compliance." "The government has spent well over £100M on advertising Covid-19-related messaging. It has resulted in unprecedented levels of fear, loneliness and anxiety."

COVID Coercion UK: SAGE Documents Reveal Psychological Operations Against Public

<https://21stcenturywire.com/2020/05/20/covid-lockdown-coercion-boris-johnsons-psychological-attack-on-the-uk-public/> Article introducing SAGE subgroup - Scientific Pandemic Influenza group on Behaviour (SPI-B) , tasked with providing advice on how to 'help' people to adhere to the interventions which government demands and quotes their advice to SAGE, e.g: "A substantial number of people still do not feel sufficiently personally threatened...The perceived level of personal threat needs to be increased among those who are complacent, using hard-hitting emotional messaging."

05 Media information campaign

SPI-B recommends that the media is used:

- to increase sense of personal threat
- to increase sense of responsibility to others
- to promote positive messaging around actions

“They make clear how they see the role of the media: not to hold government to account, but to act as a conduit for the ‘behavioural’ message (propaganda)”. “It was announced on 17 April 2020 this year that the Government and the newspaper industry have formed a three-month advertising partnership called All in, all together to help “keep the public safe and the nation united” throughout the Covid-19 ‘pandemic.’”

<http://www.newsmediauk.org/News/government-partners-with-newspaper-industry-on-covid-19-ad-campaign>

“So news media have a commercial interest in providing a propaganda service to the UK government. Indeed, it has been noticed that the government is becoming the UK media’s most important client.”

SAGE document reveals “covert” propaganda to scare British into staying Home in lockdown

<https://21stcenturywire.com/2021/04/06/sage-document-reveals-covert-propaganda-to-scare-british-in-to-staying-home/>

The paper, written by Scientific Pandemic Influenza Group on Behaviours, said: “A substantial number of people still do not feel sufficiently personally threatened; it could be that they are reassured by the low death rate in their demographic group, although levels of concern may be rising.” “The perceived level of personal threat needs to be increased among those who are complacent, using hard-hitting emotional messaging. To be effective this must also empower people by making clear the actions they can take to reduce the threat.”

The document, seen by the Telegraph, allegedly then gave 14 options for improving compliance including ‘use media to increase sense of personal threat’, which they said would be highly effective but runs the risk of ‘negative’ side effects.” The ‘covert tactics’ used to scare Britons into staying at home: How SAGE document called for increase in ‘perceived threat’ of Covid using ‘hard hitting emotional messages’ – Mail Online

By summer 2020, there was substantial evidence that non-medical masks for the general public did not reduce the transmission of the respiratory viruses....”*

Is mask wearing benign?

(HART 24th March 2021 - <https://www.hartgroup.org/covid-19-bulletin/>)

Dr Mary Ramsay from Public Health England told the BBC that face coverings were a ‘lower level restriction’ that ‘people can live with’ and they should continue to be worn ‘for a few years’.

While there is no evidence that masks significantly reduce transmission when worn routinely in real-world settings, there is recognition that they may constitute an infection hazard ... cause physical harms, while the social and psychological cost of concealing our faces from other people is considerable.

Face coverings impair all forms of communication and human connection, make lip-reading impossible for the deaf and constitute a gross impediment to children’s social development.

HART believes the Government should now lift the mandate and allow people to decide for themselves whether to wear one. It is time to trust the public with their own personal risk-based decision making.

Mortality data and Covid19 – Joel Smalley, Quantitative Data Analyst

“Mortality data can help us unravel the 2020 Covid-19 outbreak and the effects of associated interventions. When we try a new experiment such as lockdowns on the entire nation, it is our duty as scientists to forensically assess its effectiveness. Do lockdowns work from a data point of view?” In response to this question, amongst other data based evidence: “When considering the effect of lockdowns and other interventions on mortality (social distancing, mask-wearing etc.), comparisons with similar places that did not lock down are also instructive.

There are two main outliers that provide comparison (a) Sweden, (b) North and South Dakota in the US”. Both examples are well explained in the article. Joe also talks about the example of North and South Dakota from minute 36 of this video, where he says “...you would have thought that everybody in the world who is interested in public policy would be after these data, to prove or disprove the effectiveness of community mask wearing and social distancing.”

Executive Summary: COVID19 – An overview of the evidence on page 1-2 of this document, calls for, amongst other steps to: “Stop mass testing healthy people. Return to the principles of respiratory disease diagnosis (the requirement of symptoms) that were well researched and accepted before 2020. Manufacturers’ guidelines state that these tests are designed to assist the diagnosis of symptomatic patients, not to “find” disease in otherwise healthy people.”

COVID VACCINES

Many of us reading this will already have received at least one Covid 19 vaccine. We will have based our decision to have it, or them, on all the information we have been given. For a very large majority of us this information will have come from mainstream media – the news, tv programmes, radio, Gov.uk website. As you will see reading this section, that information represents only a narrow view and is, on its own, dangerously misleading. This section offers a wider and more balanced view of all the science that is accumulating on the subject of the Covid19 vaccine and will help us to make a more informed decision in the event that further vaccines will be offered. As explored further down the document, the current Covid 19 vaccines do not meet the definition of a vaccine for a number of significant reasons and therefore can not strictly be called a vaccine. It is crucial for us to understand the profound differences between this Covid 19 experimental genetic modifying injection and a vaccine as medically defined. This will be clarified in the information below. However for ease of reading we will continue to refer to it as a vaccine.

DATA THAT CAN HELP YOU WEIGH THE RISKS AND BENEFITS

With a mass vaccination programme currently under way, it is essential that we have access to as much thoroughly researched information as possible in order to be able to make a truly informed decision. Many of the scientists and Doctors speaking out expressing their concerns about the vaccine are being censored and vilified as ‘anti vaxers’. Much of what they publish is being deplatformed and debunked by ‘fact checkers’ (see section about who funds the fact checkers). The information below is just a small selection of the many voices of concern from the medical and scientific communities as well as from members of the public who have experienced adverse affects. This information specific to the vaccines, together with the wider context from the Data section above and the concept of innate immunity from Fundamental Paradigms section, can help you and your loved ones to research further in order to be able to make truly informed decisions.

Assessing individual risk from SARS-CoV2 / Covid 19

- 99.9% of people under 70 years with no underlying conditions survive the virus
- if fatal, the majority of people who die have two or more serious, chronic illnesses and their median age at death with the virus (around 82 years) exceeds normal life expectancy.

(Source: HART – Health Advisory and Recovery Team <https://www.hartgroup.org/19-february-2021/> (19th Feb 21).

Having assessed our individual risk from the virus and whether we need a vaccine, it is also important to note that the current Covid19 vaccines use a new mRNA technology, which has never been successfully tested on humans, in any long term or short term trials, and that these vaccines have been authorized for emergency use for one year only whilst the data are still being collected. Clinical trials will end in 2023, so there are no long-term safety data. A vaccine can only be granted emergency use authorisation if there are no effective treatments for COVID-19, which there are – see section Possible Solutions. Once the emergency is over or an alternate treatment is deemed effective, there is no place for Covid19 vaccines. These and more concerns about necessity, safety and efficacy of the Covid19 vaccines are detailed below. Despite the pressures we might feel to accept the vaccine, it is crucial for us to understand the true risks we are undertaking if and when we decide to accept it. Due to the current censorship of many experts in the field of vaccines who are voicing concerns about the Covid19 emergency use vaccine, we can only find out about true risks the vaccine can pose to our health by researching beyond the Government vaccine information.

WHAT ARE COVID 19 VACCINES AND HOW DO THEY WORK?

How do they differ from other vaccines?

Traditional vaccines contain products (eg weakened strains of a virus, bacteria) against which the immune system directly generates antibodies. In contrast mRNA vaccines operate by influencing the protein-producing machinery of human cells: Scientists have replicated the genetic instruction – the messenger ribonucleic acid (mRNA) strand. This mRNA fragment is injected into the body (wrapped in a fatty parcel that dissolves after vaccination) where it releases its information and enters any cells it meets. It will instruct the cells to produce the spike protein of the SARS-CoV-2 virus. The immune system then raises antibodies against these proteins, thus providing protection against the real virus – the immune system is triggered to attack the modified human cells, because it no longer recognises them – as if they were the Sars-CoV-2 virus. (from the sources below).

“ The immune network is preeminent for its collaboration between the physical cellular universe and our more etheric consciousness. It serves to define the physical cellular self while being influenced by our invisible beliefs, attitudes, and psychological perceptions of self. ~ Sondra Barrett ”

Moderna Chief Medical officer Tal Zaks: mRNA vaccines are 'rewriting the genetic code..'

In the first minute of the video, Zaks says, "We've had this phenomenal digital scientific revolution, and I'm here today to tell you that we're actually hacking the software of life, and it's changing the way we think about prevention and treatment of disease." He reiterates that they (Moderna) are looking at it like an operating system, which is referred to as "Our Operating System" on the Moderna website:

<https://www.modernatx.com/mrna-technology/mrna-platform-enabling-drug-discovery-development>

When one changes or introduces (in terms of DNA) a line of code, the code or DNA is changed, which means that the individual or subject has now changed his genome as the scientists have coded it. According to Tal Zaks of Moderna, the artificial insertion of mRNA can alter the human genome. He calls this "information therapy".

CONCERNS ABOUT COVID-19 VACCINES

The lack of long-term health data for the mRNA vaccines against Covid-19 has prompted ongoing debate and concern amongst the scientific and medical community with regard to potential unknown effects.

The information provided here will help you weigh potential risks from the virus against potential benefits of the vaccine and against the risks of the vaccine.

Covid 19 vaccine concerns facts. Dr. Mumper carefully provides detailed answers to two questions often asked by the public: "What does a safe and effective vaccine look like?" and "How will we know that a COVID-19 vaccine is safe?" <https://childrenshealthdefense.org/protecting-our-future/covid-vaccine-safety-concerns/>

Concerns briefly summed up (from sources presented here):

- none of the COVID-19 vaccines have fully completed their Phase 3 trials so are still essentially experimental.
- The vaccines were rolled out in record time, safety testing has not yet been completed. Data from the vaccine manufacturers confirms safety testing is still ongoing, and will not be complete until 2023
- COVID-19 vaccines have not been officially approved for use, they have been licensed for emergency use only.
- In September 2020, the UK Government published new legislation in the document "Changes to Human Medicine Regulations to support the rollout of COVID-19 vaccines" which means: The UK vaccine regulator (MHRA) can authorise the roll-out of unlicensed Covid-19 vaccines.

In October 2020 UK Government changed the legislation - Human Medicines Regulations 2012 to allow the MHRA to grant temporary authorisation of covid-19 vaccines without needing to wait for the EMA (European Medicines Agency). A temporary use authorisation is valid for one year only and requires the pharmaceutical companies to complete specific obligations, such as ongoing or new studies. Once comprehensive data on the product have been obtained, standard marketing authorisation can be granted.

2020 - CHANGE OF LEGISLATION TO ENABLE THE ROLL-OUT OF UNLICENCED VACCINES

- COVID-19 vaccine contains polyethylene glycol (PEG). PEG has never been used before in an approved vaccine. PEG may be triggering the anaphylactic reaction reported in some recipients.
- COVID-19 vaccines are the first vaccine to use modified (synthetic) mRNA technology.
- It is unknown how long the mRNA remains in the body to continue being translated into the viral spike protein – nobody knows if this function will ever be turned off and if not, it seems to be a formula for autoimmune diseases.
- Known potential, late-onset effects from vaccines that have not yet been ruled out include adverse immune response to infection, neurological disorders, autoimmune disease, pregnancy related problems, which may take months or years to become apparent.
- The vaccine alters the immune system
- “mRNA is made using DNA” (from Moderna Website above) - We are giving the body information based on genetics, “information therapy”, that can alter our “genome”.
- Growing list of reported adverse reactions including deaths

FEELING PRESSURED TO HAVE THE VACCINE?

Although not stated in the mainstream media, significant numbers of people are refusing the vaccine. One of the main reasons for this refusal is the knowledge that the vaccine has not undergone any completed human trials. There are, therefore, huge unknowns as to how it will behave in the human body in the short and long term. Many of us feel immense pressure from the media and perhaps from loved ones to accept the vaccine. The relentless message of risk and fear leaves little room for individual thought or critical consideration regarding this hugely important decision. It is essential that we are as fully informed as possible before making our choice, as once we have had the vaccine we cannot take it out of our bodies. We must not lose sight of the fact that we are in the middle of a medical experimental trial.

This short video presents NHS internal document/script (NHS England and NHS Improvement) on strategies and key messages to use to persuade different age groups to say yes to the vaccine.

VACCINE ADVERSE REACTIONS

Vaccine adverse reactions may seem rare in relative terms, but the sheer volume of adverse reactions being reported is beyond any previously acceptable threshold for continuing with a vaccination programme. This is astonishing and concerning. The figures below represent a fraction of the actual adverse events experienced. (VAERS states report rate is 1%. MHRA states report rate is 10% of actual adverse reactions experienced). This needs to be considered in terms of the significant human suffering being caused and the considerable level of healthcare needed for management of these many, varied and unpredictable reactions. Back to normal is now impossible for thousands of people who have experienced life changing reactions or who have died. Consider these figures as a fraction of the actual level of adverse effects - consider in context of human suffering, level of healthcare burden needed for management of adverse reactions and the injuries that humanity is prepared to ignore and deny in order to get back to 'normal'.

It is widely recognised that, on average, only 10% of serious adverse reactions are actually reported to the MHRA. The percentage is far less for non-serious reactions. This suggests that approximately 2 million people should be filing a Yellow Card. This equates to 1 AE Yellow Card injury or death for every 16 people. The vaccine therefore carries a 1 in 16 risk of life impacting/limiting injury or death. Covid19 carries 99.9% survival rate.

From the above UK Government website - weekly report: (updated 5th May): “Events with fatal outcome: Part of our continuous analysis includes an evaluation of natural death rates over time, to determine if any specific trends or patterns are occurring that might indicate a vaccine safety concern.... The MHRA has received 370 UK reports of suspected ADRs to the Pfizer/BioNTech vaccine in which the patient died shortly after vaccination, 756 reports for the Oxford University/AstraZeneca vaccine, 2 for covid vaccine Moderna and 12 where the brand of vaccine was unspecified.”

“The majority of these reports were in elderly people or people with underlying illness.... Usage of the AstraZeneca has increased rapidly and as such, so has reporting of fatal events with a temporal association with vaccination however, this does not indicate a link between vaccination and the fatalities reported....”

<https://richieallen.co.uk/hancock-panics-when-mps-ask-how-many-die-after-vaccination/>

Two Conservative Party backbenchers shocked Health Secretary Matt Hancock recently, when they demanded to know the statistics on how many people have died after having received the Covid-19 vaccine, asking why it is that such data is not being collated?

Is MHRA's Yellow Card reporting system fit for purpose? article describing really clearly the problems with the covid19 vaccines as such as well as looking at adverse effects and its reporting.

Due to the vaccine industry being granted total protection from legal action, there is a Government vaccine damage payment scheme:

UK GOVERNMENT VACCINE DAMAGE PAYMENT SCHEME

<https://www.gov.uk/vaccine-damage-payment/print>

"If you're severely disabled as a result of a vaccination against certain diseases, you could get a one-off tax-free payment of £120,000. You need to be at least 60% disabled. This could be a mental or physical disablement, based on medical evidence from the doctors or hospitals involved in your treatment. You can only claim for a child once they are 2 year old" (this is important to be aware of as a significant number of vaccinations occur within the first 2 years of life)

At the time of compiling this document the response to Freedom Of Information (FOI) request as to how much has the UK government paid out on vaccine damages was still pending.

US/INTERNATIONAL GENERAL VACCINE ADVERSE EFFECTS REPORTING SYSTEM (VAERS)

VAERS = Vaccine Adverse Effects Reporting System <https://vaers.hhs.gov/>

Since 1990, VAERS is an early warning system to detect possible safety problems in U.S.-licensed vaccines. VAERS is co-managed by the Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA). Anyone can report an adverse event to VAERS.

As vaccine manufacturers worldwide are exempt from liability (see further down), it is governments that are paying for vaccine injuries: As of September 2020, the US government has paid over $4 billion to families whose members were injured by vaccines as per data from National Vaccine Injury Compensation Program Data Report (link to which is in this article). And that is considering VAERS is missing 99% of all vaccine injuries*

<https://childrenshealthdefense.org/vaccine-secrets/video-chapters/the-government-has-paid-over-4-billion-to-families-whose-children-were-injured-by-vaccines-getting-paid-is-difficult-the-government-is-both-the-defendant-and-the-judge/>

A three year study indicates only 1% of vaccine injuries are reported: (see page 6 of the report):

<https://digital.ahrq.gov/sites/default/files/docs/publication/r18hs017045-lazarus-final-report-2011.pdf>

Going through VAERS data is not easy. Very few doctors actually know VAERS exists and if they do only thought it was for a “rare” anaphylactic reaction. Most people do not know about it either.

Open VAERS Data project can help to work with VAERS Data. Good website to share with your doctor.

COVID-19 related VAERS reports

Released on 4th June 2021 the VAERS data showed 294,801 reports of adverse events following COVID vaccines, including 5,165 deaths and 25,359 serious injuries between Dec. 14, 2020 and May 28, 2021.

<https://childrenshealthdefense.org/defender/vaers-data-deaths-reported-following-covid-vaccines/>

(Compare that to numbers released on April 9, 2021 – less than two months ago: Then the 56,869 reports of adverse events included 2,342 deaths and 7,971 serious injuries, as reported between Dec 14, 2020 and April 1, 2021:

Oct 2019: Event 201 – A Global Pandemic Exercise – (introduced more further down)
<https://www.centerforhealthsecurity.org/event201/about>

There is very clear intention within global health and media organizations to push vaccination as the number one public health policy, to get political endorsement, to raise visibility, to improve uptake and coverage and to take global action against the spread of vaccine misinformation. One of the reasons this huge effort is required is because the many adverse reactions millions of people experience from vaccines raises important questions about their safety and efficacy. There are many other more natural approaches to health and immunity which have been used safely and effectively the world over which are important to consider before deciding whether to accept a vaccine.

VACCINE PASSPORTS / CERTIFICATES – LEGAL IMPLICATIONS

The Parliamentary Assembly of the Council of Europe – the international body of which the European Court of Human Rights is a part (not to be confused with the EU, and of which Britain remains a member) – has passed a resolution (one page doc: <https://pace.coe.int/en/files/29004/html>) that vaccines must not be mandatory and no one should suffer discrimination on account of not having been vaccinated. Its articles 7.3.1. and 7.3.2. read: "...ensure that citizens are informed that the vaccination is NOT mandatory and that no one is politically, socially, or otherwise pressured to get themselves vaccinated, if they do not wish to do so themselves;..." and "... ensure that no one is discriminated against for not having been vaccinated, due to possible health risks or not wanting to be vaccinated"
<https://www.europereloaded.com/council-of-europe-decrees-vaccines-must-not-be-mandatory-and-the-non-vaccinated-must-not-be-discriminated-against/>

According to Article 6 of UNESCO's Universal Declaration on Bioethics and Human Rights (2005), 70 of which the UK is a signatory: 'Any preventive, diagnostic and therapeutic medical intervention is only to be carried out with prior, free and informed consent of the person concerned, based on adequate information. The consent should, where appropriate, be express and may be withdrawn by the person concerned at any time and for any reason without disadvantage or prejudice.'

07 POSSIBLE SOLUTIONS

POLICY RESPONSE

A Critical Analysis of the covid response – PANDA, Pandemics, Data & Analytics clear, referenced article from March 2021, by Dr R. Iván Iriarte, MD, MS. <https://www.pandata.org/a-critical-analysis-of-the-covid-response/>
“Since the World Health Organization (WHO) declared the COVID-19 global pandemic, many issues have arisen that run contrary to historical precedents and known and practiced public health principles of the last century. This article discusses some of these issues: assumptions made without evidence, the incorrect case definition, PCR diagnostic test problems, the impact of these two factors on morbidity and mortality estimates, school closures, facemasks, lock-downs and their effects on children. “... A course-correction in the management of this epidemic is urgently needed. The response to the COVID-19 epidemic should be based on reliable data and sound public health principles. The following measures should be adopted immediately:

1. Provide the public with accurate information about COVID-19 risk in order to reduce the fear.
2. Cease the mass administration of diagnostic tests on asymptomatic individuals.
3. Define cases according to clinical criteria – confirmed by laboratory tests. The determination of a case should be the decision of a duly licensed medical doctor.
4. Use the case definition listed above to determine indicators such as new cases (incidence), hospitalizations and mortality.
5. Establish measures to protect vulnerable individuals.
6. Encourage the population to take hygiene measures such as hand washing, covering the mouth when coughing and staying at home when sick.
7. Open schools, businesses and travel.

PREVENTIONS AND TREATMENTS OF COVID 19

Widely accepted and evidenced preventions and treatments for Covid 19, as referenced below, are:

- Vitamin D, Vitamin C, Zinc, Hydroxychloroquine
- Ivermectin
- Healthy diet, exercise for the body and mind, meaningful social connections, being in a healthy environment with close connection to nature

08 MAKING SENSE OF WHAT IS HAPPENING

The discrepancies between much of the clear science and the current Government response raises some inevitable questions about the motives behind the actions of the Government policy makers. This section explores some of the other narratives being expressed. Whatever we choose to believe, this is certainly an opportunity for humanity to question, challenge, check and explore the many informed voices expressing their understanding and perception of this Covid pandemic and the unfolding future of humanity.

We have the chance to raise our awareness of that which is going on around us and of what we wish to be a part. We each have the responsibility to consider what sort of world are we building together and whether it is one resting firmly on freedom and truth. Data interpretation, fundamental paradigms and scientific evidence we base our views on will decide to what extent or if at all we perceive this current situation to be a medical crisis. Here below are just some of the voices and views outside the mainstream narrative that are worth listening to:

ECONOMIC PROFIT AND CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Who controls the British Government response to Covid19? - Part 1

<https://www.ukcolumn.org/article/who-controls-british-government-response-covid19-part-one>

The intention of this article has been to raise questions over who is driving the British Government response to Covid-19. Those who have influenced the lockdown policy have very clear conflict of interest question marks over their agenda: This article describes in short Neil Ferguson's history and links the facts he is acting director of the Vaccine Impact Modelling Consortium (VIMC), which is based at Imperial College in London, which is heavily sponsored by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation.

The Gates Foundation is a primary sponsor of GAVI, the vaccine alliance, but is topped by the British Government, which was instrumental in creating GAVI and is its largest donor. Apart from being heavily invested in immunisation campaigns, GAVI is also closely connected to the Gates, Microsoft and Rockefeller Foundation seed-funded ID2020 project (Digital Identity Alliance), which is promoting the concept that there is a need for universal biometric verification, because "to prove who you are is a fundamental and universal human right," as asserted on the ID2020 website: <https://id2020.org/>

"Since 2016, ID2020 has advocated for ethical, privacy-protecting approaches to digital ID... ...Doing digital ID right means protecting civil liberties and putting control over personal data back where it belongs... in the hands of the individual... ...new forms of digital ID allow us to travel, conduct business, access financial and health records, stay connected, and much more... ...We are businesses, nonprofits, governments and individuals... working in collaboration to ensure that the future of digital identity is, indeed, #goodID."

One of the leading financial supporters of the Covid19 ‘vaccine’ is Bill Gates. He is both chief financial backer and the person who is making the most profit from the roll out of this experimental injection. As such it is important to investigate his involvement.

2015!! TED Talk by Bill Gates on corona virus – 8 min video

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QdSyKEBiOnE> quotes from Bill Gates talk:

“...today the greatest risk of a global catastrophe ...if anything kills over next few decades it's most likely to be a highly infectious virus.... Next time (after the Ebola) we might not be so lucky, you can have a virus where people feel well enough while they are infectious to get on a plane or to a market ... it could be a natural virus like Ebola or it could be via terrorism... We can build a really good response system. We have the benefits of all the science and technology, we've got cellphones, we have got satellite maps where you can see where people are and where they are moving, we have advances in biology that should that should dramatically change the turn-around time to look at the pathogen and to be able to make drugs and vaccines.... So we have got tools, but these tools need to be put into the overall health system. We need preparedness...”

...indeed, pandemic preparedness was simulated in an exercise called Event201 in October 2019, see below.

October 2019 – Event 201 – pandemic exercise - the simulation of a high-level pandemic of a new and emerging coronavirus - by Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, World Economic Forum and Johns Hopkins Centre for Health Security, supported by funding from the Open Philanthropy Project.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AoLw-Q8X174> – 11min video

<https://www.centerforhealthsecurity.org/event201/about>

“... The next severe pandemic will not only cause great illness and loss of life but could also trigger major cascading economic and societal consequences that could contribute greatly to global impact and suffering. The Event 201 pandemic exercise, conducted on October 18, 2019, vividly demonstrated a number of these important gaps in pandemic preparedness as well as some of the elements of the solutions between the public and private sectors that will be needed to fill them.” Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, World Economic Forum and The Johns Hopkins Center for Health Security jointly propose these recommendations.

<https://www.centerforhealthsecurity.org/event201/recommendations.html> quoting from which:

“...Contingency planning for a potential operational partnership between government and business ...”

“... A particularly fast-moving and lethal pandemic could therefore result in political decisions to slow or stop movement of people and goods, potentially harming economies already vulnerable in the face of an outbreak. ...”

“... Governments will need to partner with traditional and social media companies to research and develop nimble approaches to countering misinformation. This will require developing the ability to flood media with fast, accurate, and consistent information....Media companies should commit to ensuring that authoritative messages are prioritized and that false messages are suppressed...”

It is clear that the media has fulfilled the last recommendation very well. However, who decides what is a false message and what is not, and how do they decide? Should there be a place for anyone to pre-decide what is true and what is false in a free, democratic society who’s laws uphold freedom of speech and right to informed consent and where science is a process rather than a dogma?

CENSORSHIP - “FACT CHECKING”

Is Full Fact really “independent”? <https://www.ukcolumn.org/ukcolumn-news/uk-column-news-15th-february-2021> (On Impartiality of Full Fact min 25:30 to min 29:30). Often seen in internet searches, organization Full Fact (<https://fullfact.org/>), that “fights bad information”, that claims to be “a team of independent fact-checkers and campaigners who find, expose and counter the harm it does”. How “independent” this organization is can be seen in the above link to UK Column news from 15th February 2021. Full Fact’s own website, on their Impartiality, says: “We have rigorous safeguards in place...to ensure our neutrality. These have been carefully constructed based on advice from ... BBC” (amongst others). Looking into who funds Full Fact, first place is Facebook. On “Funding from Facebook” it says: “Since January 2019, Full Fact has checked images, videos and articles on Facebook as part of the social network’s third-party fact checking initiative. This work is funded by Facebook....The amount of money that Full Fact is entitled to depends on the amount of fact checking done under the programme.”

Full Fact claims on their website: “Full Fact fights bad information. Bad information ruins lives. It promotes hate, damages people’s health, and hurts democracy. You deserve better.”

Is there a place in a democratic society to “fight bad information”? Would on the other hand an open discussion and trust in people’s own judgement be a better solution worthy a democratic society?

The activities of the WORLD ECONOMIC FORUM are being shaped by the analysis of Klaus Schwab, founder of the World Economic Forum, which he summarized in his book from 2016 called FOURTH INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION: https://www.academia.edu/38203483/The_Fourth_Industrial_Revolution_pdf

Here are a few quotes from Klaus Schwab's book:

"... Much of the information and my own analysis in this book are based on ongoing projects and initiatives of the World Economic Forum and has been developed, discussed and challenged at recent Forum gatherings. Thus, this book also provides a framework for shaping the future activities of the World Economic Forum...."

"Of the many diverse and fascinating challenges we face today, the most intense and important is how to understand and shape the new technology revolution, which entails nothing less than a transformation of humankind. We are at the beginning of a revolution that is fundamentally changing the way we live, work, and relate to one another. In its scale, scope and complexity, what I consider to be the fourth industrial revolution is unlike anything humankind has experienced before."

"... Consider the unlimited possibilities of having billions of people connected by mobile devices, giving rise to unprecedented processing power, storage capabilities and knowledge access. Or think about the staggering confluence of emerging technology breakthroughs, covering wide-ranging fields such as artificial intelligence (AI), robotics, the internet of things (IoT), autonomous vehicles, 3D printing, nanotechnology, biotechnology, materials science, energy storage and quantum computing, to name a few. Many of these innovations are in their infancy, but they are already reaching an inflection point in their development as they build on and amplify each other in a fusion of technologies across the physical, digital and biological worlds...."

"...On the societal front, a paradigm shift is underway in how we work and communicate, as well as how we express, inform and entertain ourselves. Equally, governments and institutions are being reshaped, as are systems of education, healthcare and transportation, among many others. New ways of using technology to change behaviour and our systems of production and consumption...."

Apart from its speed due to interconnected world, he mentions as it's main characteristics:

"Breadth and depth: It builds on the digital revolution and combines multiple technologies that are leading to unprecedented paradigm shifts in the economy, business, society and individually. It is not only changing the "what" and the "how" of doing things but also "who" we are."

"System Impacts: It involves the transformation of entire systems, across (and within) countries, companies, industries and society as a whole." "The changes are historic in terms of their size, speed and scope."

"The tools of the fourth industrial revolution enable new forms of surveillance and other means of control that run counter to healthy, open society."

"...Public crime is likely to decrease due to the convergence of sensors, cameras, AI and facial recognition software ..."
these technologies "can intrude into the hitherto private space of our minds, reading our thoughts and influencing our behaviour." "As capabilities in this area improve, the temptation for law enforcement agencies and courts to use techniques to determine the likelihood of criminal activity, access guilt or even possibly retrieve memories directly from people's brains will increase. Even crossing a national border might one day involve a detailed brains scan to assess an individual's security risk." "The future will challenge our understanding of what it means to be human, from both a biological and a social standpoint."

In July 2020 came out another book by Klaus Schwab: Covid19: The Great Reset – by Klaus Schwab

https://straight2point.info/wp-content/uploads/2020/08/COVID-19_-The-Great-Reset-Klaus-Schwab.pdf

"The return of "big" government"... "...in the intervening decades (in the Western world) the role of the state has shrunk considerably. This is a situation that is set to change because it is hard to imagine how an exogenous shock of such magnitude as the one inflicted by COVID-19 could be addressed with purely market-based solutions.... It (coronavirus) has revealed that offloading an ever-greater deal of responsibilities (like health and education) to individuals and the markets may not be in the best interest of society... ... For the first time since Margaret Thatcher captured the zeitgeist of an era when declaring that "there is no such thing as society", governments have the upper hand. Everything that comes in the post-pandemic era will lead us to rethink governments' role... ... Looking to the future, governments will most likely, but with different degrees of intensity, decide that it's in the best interest of society to rewrite some of the rules of the game and permanently increase their role..."

08 Making sense of what is happening

....Some analysts ventured that the pandemic would provoke the obsolescence of activism, but the exact opposite may well prove to be true....“Emergencies often prove to be the forge in which new ideas and opportunities are hammered out.... social activism, repressed by necessity during the lockdowns and their various measures of physical and social distancing, may re-emerge with renewed vigour once the periods of confinement are over...”

....As the coronavirus crisis recedes and people start returning to the workplace, the corporate move will be towards greater surveillance; for better or for worse, companies will be watching and sometimes recording what their workforce does. The trend could take many different forms, from measuring body temperatures with thermal cameras to monitoring via an app how employees comply with social distancing....the surveillance tools are likely to remain in place after the crisis ... This is what happened after the terrorist attacks of 11 September 2001. All around the world, new security measures like employing widespread cameras, requiring electronic ID cards and logging employees or visitors in and out became the norm. At that time, these measures were deemed extreme, but today they are used everywhere and considered “normal”. An increasing number of analysts, policy-makers and security specialists fear the same will now happen with the tech solutions put into place to contain the pandemic...

...the corona crisis may compel us to act faster by replacing failed ideas, institutions, processes and rules with new ones better suited to current and future needs. This is the essence of the Great Reset.

...Some leaders and decision-makers who were already at the forefront of the fight against climate change may want to take advantage of the shock inflicted by the pandemic to implement long-lasting and wider environmental changes. They will, in effect make “good use” of the pandemic by not letting the crisis go to waste”.

“The takeover of public health that we have documented in How Bill Gates Monopolized Global Health and the remarkably brazen push to vaccinate everyone on the planet that we have documented in Bill Gates’ Plan to Vaccinate the World was not, at base, about money. The unimaginable wealth that Gates has accrued is now being used to purchase something much more useful: control. Control not just of the global health bodies that can coordinate a worldwide vaccination program or of the governments that will mandate such an unprecedented campaign, but control over the global population itself.”

09 VIEWS TO THE NEAR FUTURE

Exploring the different views of experts and key figures about the end of the pandemic and what the future will look like:

“We are no longer in emergency.” “COVID-19 cases are low and all-cause deaths are now back to normal pre-pandemic rates and falling....The virus is now endemic and will circulate at very low levels this summer and is then likely to join the range of respiratory viruses circulating each winter.... There are no longer any justifiable or ethical reasons for prolonging Covid-related statutory ‘emergency powers’. Talk of continuing social distancing and masks for several years is therefore unnecessary and unhelpful. We urgently need to reduce fear and increase hope as we recover from this crisis.”

Back to ‘normal’ by Autumn? - Dr Michael Tildesley, SPI-M (SAGE)

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=O_YK1-4aXZA – Pandemic podcast – 1h video. As the milestones out of lockdown keep being pushed further and further into the summer and the Prime Minister warns of a third wave ‘washing up on our shores’, do we have any chance of returning to ‘normal’ this year? Dr Mike Tildesley, a member of the Scientific Pandemic Influenza Group on Modelling (SPI-M) advising SAGE which in turn advises the Government, believes we do.

Despite the fact, that we are no longer in emergency and the SAGE advisor believes we can be back to “normal” by Autumn, the rhetoric and the actions of the Government, regulators and global players are concerning:

Pandemic Podcast – Dr Mike Yeadon.

Mike Yeadon explains how human immunity is not fooled by the 20% change between the original SARS (2011-12) virus and SARS-CoV2. So we shouldn’t believe that the 0.3% (that any of the variants of SARS-Cov2 differs from each other) would allow variants to escape immunity. There’s no need to top up vaccine. There’s no need to close borders. There’s no need to fear. From 16min in: exploring whether the issue of ‘variants’ will become a likely cause of future lockdowns, and the implication this has for a potentially unending series of vaccine top-ups and boosters. 1 hour long video exploring other topics such as lockdowns, vaccine passports and the mass vaccination programme. Dr Mike Yeadon is an independent biotech consultant with 32 years of experience in research and development with big pharma – including Pfizer at senior management level – and within biotechnology as a company founder.

Mutant variants and the futility of border closures

Dr Gerry Quinn, Post-doctoral Researcher in Microbiology and Immunology

<https://www.hartgroup.org/mutant-variants/> "All variants are 99.8% similar to the original Wuhan viral sequence... It is highly unlikely that a variant with minor changes in the sequence will evade the acquired immune response. Prior immunity gained from the original SARS-CoV2 should work perfectly well against any new "mutant variant", given high levels of sequence similarity. It is important to note that in the highly unlikely event that a variant did manage to escape a person's acquired immune response, this would represent a threat to an individual rather than a community... There has, to date been no robust scientific evidence provided that any variant so far identified is more transmissible or deadly than the original. By definition, variants are clinically identical. Closing international borders to keep out "foreign mutants" of an already endemic virus is neither useful nor possible. Once a virus is established in a population, as is the case in the UK, it will mutate slowly over time, irrespective of borders. International borders have nothing to do with the emergence of viral mutations..."

The boiling frog syndrome

We must consider what permanent measures are really needed in response to this current situation – recovering from the Covid 19 pandemic. Do we believe increased surveillance and tracking measures and enforced vaccination is necessary? In China and Israel the plans of The Great Reset are further advanced. Here is a look at what is happening there:

Vaccine passports – the end of human liberty in the west

“... This is literally the end of human liberty in the west if this plan unfolds as planned. Vaccine passports sound like a fine thing if you don't understand what these platforms can do ... It's not about the vaccine. It's not about the virus. It's about your data. And once this rolls out you don't have a choice about being part of the system. What people have to understand is that any other functionality can be loaded onto that platform with no problem at all.”

Our Bodies, Our Selves – Lynne McTaggart

<https://lynnemctaggart.com/our-bodies-our-selves/> - short article

“...What a vaccine passport requires us to do is nothing less than give up bodily autonomy... But even greater is a giant shift in the government's perception of its role. As Fraser Nelson wrote in The Telegraph, it used to be the case that the government would have to demonstrate, beyond a reasonable doubt, that a threat was great enough to justify depriving people of basic liberties. 'Now, the burden of proof has flipped'. ...

If we don't have agency over our own bodies, if we don't have the right to debate, to disagree, to protest or to demand the government justify its actions, if our media has abandoned its role of holding government to account and is actually protecting it against any sort of criticism, then we don't have a democracy anymore. And if we ourselves are voting for all of this in opinion polls, then we are in big trouble...”

‘Scenarios for the Future of Technology and International Development’ - a study published by Rockefeller Foundation in 2010. <http://www.nommeraadio.ee/meedia/pdf/RRS/Rockefeller%20Foundation.pdf>
extracts from the document put in context: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=FFCYg-Q7f1A> - 11min video
The below summary from here: <https://truthcommunity.space/>

In 2010, the Rockefeller Foundation published a study titled ‘Scenarios for the Future of Technology and International Development’. It has a chapter called LockStep in which a global pandemic is reported as if it happened in the past, but which is clearly intended as a rehearsal for the future. The scenario continues by comparing two different responses to their predicted pandemic: the USA only ‘strongly discouraged’ people from flying, while China enforced mandatory quarantine for all citizens. The first response is accused of spreading the virus even more, while the imposing of a suffocating lockdown is praised. Then it goes on to describe the implementation of totalitarian control: ‘During the pandemic, national leaders around the world flexed their authority and imposed airtight rules and restrictions, from the mandatory wearing of face masks to body-temperature checks at the entries to communal spaces like train stations and supermarkets.’ Clearly the flexing of authority is the desired response.

But it gets worse, according to this scenario ‘Even after the pandemic faded, this more authoritarian control and oversight of citizens and their activities stuck and even intensified. In developed countries, this heightened oversight took many forms: biometric IDs for all citizens, for example, and tighter regulation of key industries whose stability was deemed vital to national interests.’

“Lock-Step - a world of tighter top-down government control and more authoritarian leadership, with limited innovation and growing citizen pushback” (from p.18).

10 What is the future I want?

10 WHAT IS THE FUTURE I WANT?

In this time of profound change it is vital that we all pause, look up and out at the wider landscape and view and think for ourselves: What future are we aiming towards? What will the world be like for the children of the future? What sort of world am I participating in creating? Where are we headed? Am I being pulled along in the river without really knowing where it is going? Do I just go with the flow of society? Do I feel pressure to conform so that I fit in? Who is informing/influencing what I think and feel? Each and every one of us has power, because we are alive, because we can think and consider and can speak our minds and act from our own free will. We must consciously choose where to direct that power.

“OMG, I can’t believe the craziness we are experiencing” – says the citizen. “Everything is right on schedule” – says the scientist. Science says we are facing a mass extinction, human civilization has to recreate itself. The craziness that’s going on is an important aspect of that. Metamorphosis of a caterpillar to a butterfly – story that replicates everything we are doing. Caterpillars are voracious organism, when put on the planet they will eat every leaf of that planet and when it ends destroying it’s environment it then goes into a cocoon in which a metamorphosis process ultimately creates a butterfly. Butterfly has the lightest touch on nature. Between the caterpillar and the butterfly, there’s something going on in that cocoon – the voracious destructive civilization is breaking down as the individuals start to assemble into new thriveable civilization of the future.”

Request for Witness Statement – UK Lawyers for Liberty – UK Businesses impacted by Government Response to Covid. Lawyers for Liberty, are helping Tilbrook Solicitors with their court case against the Government. This case will determine whether the Government has acted unconstitutionally (without proper power) to lockdown the entire country. We want to give this case the maximum opportunity for success and we want to give you a voice. They aim is to collate as many legitimate witness statements as possible from UK-based businesses (big or small) that have been forced to close their premises as a result of arbitrary lockdowns. They want our personal stories to be heard – our crushed livelihoods, loss of family income and our crippling personal debt as a result of government’s failures. It takes no more than 1 minute to fill it in and will cost you no money.

Covid Assembly – Covid Deaths Audit

<https://www.covid19assembly.org/covid-deaths-audit/>

“If you or anyone you know has lost someone whose death has been officially recorded as Covid-19, please come forward and let us know. Similarly, if you are a medical professional or work in any field which has given you insight into this situation (eg. undertaking or death registration) and have information that you think is relevant or are able to provide testimonial evidence, we very much need to hear from you as well. If this contravenes the terms of your employment, we are able to offer legal assistance and anonymity.”

Class Action - Rational thinking in an Irrational World

Group litigation – in collaboration with Dr Reiner Fuellmich and the Corona Committee on the evidence behind our respective cases. <https://rational.global/>

On the website also a video of Dr Reiner Fuellmich describing parallel cases, which are being brought in Germany and the USA. If you feel you've been harmed in any way, whether psychologically, emotionally, medically, financially or otherwise, because of coronavirus restrictions, policies or protocols, you may have a claim against UK Government for causing these harms. We are a group of individuals intent on bringing a Group Litigation (“Class Action”) against the UK Government, and other key individuals and organisations, who have acted together and created a humanitarian and economic crisis on both a national and global level.

Class Action Covid UK: <https://cacuk.world/>

If you've been harmed because of lockdown or other covid measures, you may have a claim against the UK government and others for causing these harms.

- We believe the UK government, together with certain individuals and organisations, have created a humanitarian and economic crisis on a national and global level.

PCR Claims: Were you, your children, or your business adversely affected by lockdowns, quarantines or forced self-isolation based on PCR testing?

Please provide a short statement of evidence outlining the harms you suffered using our simple questionnaire. You will then be contacted regarding next steps in this process. PCRclaims is a campaign group that collates claims information relating to individual losses driven by pillar 2 testing. Joanna Rogers of NaviStar Legal is a solicitor and is our in-house legal counsel. As a campaign group, we are supported by a network of regulated independent law firms, freelance lawyers, solicitors and barristers who take your claim from start to finish.

Stop Coerced Vaccination – join our fight in Court

Fiction: Private sector employers can force workers to have a Covid vaccine.

Law: They cannot do so unless the Courts accept that the interference with your right right to bodily autonomy – a fundamental right maintained through the Human Rights Act 1998 – is justified. And the law is that the Courts can only accept justification based on evidence, not government messaging. We do not believe the evidence for justification exists. New Mexico - First Court Case Against Mandatory Vaccination

Interview with Attorney Ana Garner of New Mexico. Garner represents her client Isaac Legaretta, an officer at the Doña Ana County Detention Center and a military veteran, who is suing the county over its new policy for first responders to receive the COVID-19 vaccinations or face termination. Garner is prepared to take this case to the Supreme Court if necessary. Attorney Garner explains the significance of this case and what is at stake, as it is the first of its kind and may set a new standard for legal precedent regarding mandatory vaccination. 13 Fundamental paradigms

13 BRIEF EXPLORATION OF FUNDAMENTAL PARADIGMS BEHIND OUR ATTITUDES TO OUR HEALTH, SCIENCE, DEATH AND THE FUTURE

The paradigms that have been shaping our society and that show how we have come up with the collective narrative and the public health responses, that we have seen in the last year and many previous years.	Invitation to consider a shift of paradigm that would benefit our planet, humanity and us as individuals.
WHO ARE WE?
We perceive ourselves as superior to nature, separate from the nature, centre of life on Earth. As the Oxford Dictionary definition of nature suggests, nature is everything except humans – we have written ourselves out of the definition of nature: “Nature = the phenomena of the physical world collectively, including plants, animals, the landscape and other features and products of the earth, as opposed to humans or human creations.”	Invitation to consider a shift of paradigm that would benefit our planet, humanity and us as individuals. We came from nature as a result of its biodiversity and intelligence. We are not against nature, we are the result of nature.
Our fear-based behaviour as a society is driven by the ancestral paradigm of fight or flight, that’s been in us for centuries: If we don’t beat nature, it will beat us.	We are co-operative forces with nature.
WHAT IS SCIENCE?
Science is being presented as a body of knowledge. Scientific dogma, and other political and financial interests, is what drives big regulatory bodies (CDC, NHS etc...) to censor, ostracize or criminalize scientists whose view is not matching the popular narrative. There’s more emphasis in current education on clinical research and clinical management, on data analysis as opposed to data production, with little time spent on basic science research. So decisions are being made on the assumption that due diligence has been done.	Science is an activity, ever changing process, an exercise of intellect and methodology applied to advancing understanding the world. We should expect the science and us to change, our purpose is to stay curious. A quote by Carl Sagan: “At the heart of science is an essential balance between two seemingly contradictory attitudes – an openness to new ideas, no matter how bizarre or counterintuitive they may be, and the most ruthless sceptical scrutiny of all ideas, old and new. This is how deep truths are winnowed from deep nonsense.”
As we continue perceiving humans as superior to and separate from nature and staying in fight or flight relationship with her, the science keeps holding the germ theory as the basic paradigm and considering the human cell as the centre of human health.	The shift of paradigm is due to view humans as co-creative forces with nature, to build on terrain theory and reflect last decades of genomics to view the microbiome and virome as the centre of the human health, our existence and our origin.
WHAT ARE VIRUSES?
Coming from the above viewpoint, viruses are enemies, coming to attack us. We need to beat the virus, or it will beat us. We are at war with the virus, we want to eliminate it, eradicate it. Fighting these enemies often means using substances and ways that are putting our innate immune systems at risk and make our environment ever more toxic, but coming from fight or flight, fear based perspective, where the main goal is to beat the virus, wider implications of these “cures” are overlooked.	There are more viruses on the earth than stars in the known Universe. They are part of nature. Part of us. Viruses are vital for us, they increase adaptability and biodiversity on the planet. Viruses make it possible for us to adapt in response to our environment - the more change in the environment, the more adaptations will be needed, the more viruses will appear and elicit symptoms, as our physical and mental health as species is also deteriorating, so we are more vulnerable.
WHAT IS DEATH?
Emphasis on safety, security and risk reduction, seeing death as a disaster, as the ultimate failure of the medical system led us to create systems that embody fear. Death is the ultimate catastrophe. Staying safe and prolong life is over-ridingly important.	In the world of the interdependent self, death is part of life and life is to be lived fully. How about “dying well”? Consider this perspective from Dr Lissa Rankin: “Not all of us would want to be in an ICU, isolated from loved ones with a machine breathing for us, at risk of dying alone-even if it means they might increase their chance of survival. Some of us might rather be held in the arms of loved ones at home, even if that means our time has come...Remember, death is no ending. Death is going home.”
WHERE ARE WE HEADING?
In the world of the separate self, we search for an enemy and target the enemy in order to destroy it. We often adopt very narrow view when targeting the enemy. By missing the bigger picture, we often make more harm in the long run than the “enemy” itself.	In the world of relational, interdependent self one no longer searches for an enemy as the key to understanding every problem, but looks instead for imbalances in relationships. We are at the point where we can see our extinction as a real possibility. We need to change our mindset and our understanding of who we are, why are we here, where we are going. If we learn anything from this pandemic, it is that humanity can actually act as one, we can change our behaviour in the micro and macro level instantly, when we all start to live the future that we want to create.

WE ARE AT A CRITICAL TIME IN HUMANITY'S JOURNEY

Whatever our beliefs, views, expertise and perspectives are, we must all participate in this unfolding situation with the best clarity and open heartedness that we can bring.

This journey of research and questioning has led us to discover that although it began with exploring the science behind the vaccine and lockdown measures it ended up revealing to us that this is about more than the vaccine, it is about who is in charge in the world, who it is deciding the way we can and should live. And it revealed to us that these people are not acting in our best interests. They are not openly and lovingly exploring the science together with the remarkable global community of brilliant minds; they are in fact choosing to ignore much of it, and what is worse, hiding it from the people of the world.

So how do we remain free of agenda they are pushing on us all? What is the cost if we ignore what is happening?

We urge you, for the sake of your own lives and especially for the generations to come, to look again at what you believe is happening and to acknowledge that both action and inaction build the future: One builds our own future, one participates unconsciously in someone else's. Let us build a world rich and nourishing and beautiful and free for us ALL.

THANK YOU

An offering to you from three members of our wonderful, rich, intelligent, beautiful, precious Human tribe.

Peace to us all, may we flourish into a future filled with truth, respect and light.

Sometimes the wisdom we need to hear has been among us for a very long time. We just need a reason to listen to it again and allow it to stir our soul into new and creative action, bringing about life in all it's wonderful fullness for us all: The Greatest Speech Ever Made - Charlie Chaplin – Final Speech from the Great Dictator
